Light of the Fire

By Sarahlyn Bruck | January 23, 2024

In this heartrending story about healing from past mistakes, two estranged friends face the twenty-year-old accident that forced them apart—and the consequences of the secret that still haunts them.

Twenty years ago, an out-of-control prank ended in an accident that destroyed the high school gym and threatened the futures of star athletes Beth and Ally. They move on with their lives carrying their secret while someone else is blamed, but the years reveal that no one truly comes out unscathed.

But the old friends aren't just battling new problems when their former classmate Jordan begins to investigate the crime for which his father was convicted. As their secret comes back around to threaten their futures once more, Beth and Ally will have to decide whether to run away from the truth again or face it once and for all.

About the Author

Sarahlyn Bruck is the award-winning author of three contemporary novels: Light of the Fire (2024), Daytime Drama (2021), and Designer You (2018). When she's not writing, Sarahlyn moonlights as a full-time writing and literature professor at a local community college. She's also a co-host of the pop culture podcast, Pretty Much Pop. From Northern California, she now lives in Philadelphia with her family.

For the latest book news, events, and announcements, check out her website: https://sarahlynbruck.com. Follow her on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter: @sarahlynbruck.

Light of the Fire

by Sarahlyn Bruck Lake Union Publishing | January 23, 2024 | 315 pages Trade Paperback Original | ISBN 9781662513299 $3.99 Kindle e-Book | ASIN B0BWNSQMGF $19.99 Digital Audio | ISBN 9781491555545

